

Open in AppLatest Most Popular Breaking News Forex Commodities Stock Market Economic Ind↑ Upside Potential: Undervalued stocks with clear growth catalysts See Undervalued Stocks

Vedanta, Nuvama & SAIL Rally After Being Flagged by AI Strategy

By Investing.com Author Puneet Sikka

Published 14-05-2026, 07:21 pm

View all comments \(4\) >

© Reuters.

While broader Indian equities have remained volatile in May, a few standout names identified by InvestingPro's Bharat Market Outperformers AI strategy on May 1 have continued to attract strong investor attention. Among them, Vedanta Ltd (NSE:VDAN), Nuvama Wealth Management Ltd (NSE:NUVA), and Steel Authority of India Ltd. (NSE:SAIL) have all seen meaningful developments that helped drive market momentum. For comparison, Nifty 50 is down 2.4% this month; Vedanta, Nuvama, and SAIL are up 19%, 15%, and 9%, respectively.

To find more such stocks, you can use these strategies by purchasing either the Pro or the Pro+ plan.

Unlock these AI-powered investing strategies with InvestingPro's Pro+ plan

Vedanta has been in focus after reporting a strong Q4 FY26 performance. The company posted a sharp jump in profit and announced another dividend, reinforcing its image as one of India's most aggressive shareholder-reward stories. Investors also reacted positively to Vedanta's ongoing demerger process, which officially moved forward in May and is expected to unlock value across its separate business verticals. In addition, a recent government decision to reduce royalty rates on crude oil and natural gas boosted sentiment around Vedanta's oil and gas business.

Nuvama Wealth Management has seen rising investor participation and improving sentiment this month. Derivatives data showed a sharp rise in open interest alongside strong price action, indicating growing bullish positioning among traders. Market participants have also been optimistic about the company's long-term growth prospects in India's expanding wealth-management space. The stock has benefited from improving analyst sentiment and expectations around continued earnings growth and dividend announcements.

Meanwhile, Steel Authority of India Limited (SAIL) has emerged as one of the strongest-performing PSU metal stocks in recent sessions. The stock rallied sharply amid improving domestic steel prices, safeguard duties supporting Indian steelmakers, and optimism surrounding upcoming quarterly earnings.

SAIL also appointed a new Chairman and Managing Director this month, adding another key development for investors tracking the company's future direction. Strong FY26 production and sales numbers further strengthened confidence in the steel giant.

To find more such stocks, you can use these strategies by purchasing either the Pro or the Pro+ plan.

Unlock these AI-powered investing strategies with InvestingPro's Pro+ plan

The strong performance of these stocks once again highlights how AI-driven investing strategies are increasingly helping investors identify emerging market leaders early. InvestingPro's Bharat Market Outperformers AI strategy focuses on data-driven signals, earnings momentum, valuation trends, and market strength indicators to uncover stocks showing the potential to outperform broader markets.

What are the best investment opportunities in 2026?

The best investments start with better data. Going with your gut has its place, but when excitement masquerades as intuition, it can lead to costly mistakes—or analysis paralysis.

InvestingPro combines institutional-grade data with AI-powered insights that you don't need a finance PhD to understand. It won't guarantee winners, but it will certainly help you find more of them, more often.

So what are the best investments of 2026 so far?

 Ask WarrenAI, then decide

Follow us on
Google News

Latest comments