Recently, Vedanta had undertaken a demerger exercise to split its businesses into five independent listed companies. The company had set April 30, 2026, as the record date for the demerger. It issued one equity share of each of the five companies to eligible shareholders. This means shareholders of Vedanta received one share of each of the five demerged companies for every one share of Vedanta held by them as of the record date.

Vedanta stock: Technical view

Harish Jujarey, AVP head – technical equity research, Prithvi Finmart, said that Vedanta stock has been consolidating in a broad range with a negative bias after the demerger. Last week, the stock found support near the June low of ₹249 and has shown a decent recovery from these levels. Going ahead, ₹249 will remain a key

"Overall, the stock remains in a broad consolidation phase. A decisive close below ₹249 could trigger a fresh leg of the downtrend," the analyst said.
