Vedanta invests $600 mn to double S African zinc capacity

Vedanta has invested nearly $600 million to double the annual zinc production capacity of its South African operations to 500,000 tonnes, as the company targets annual production of 3 million tonnes across India and South Africa. The investment in South Africa's Gamsberg, Vedanta Zinc International's flagship zinc mine, is part of the company's broader ambition to increase its zinc production capacity across its Indian and South African businesses.
